"Because the marquis is dead!" fell a heavy voice behind them.

The host got up frowning. "Captain Jarrat," said he brusquely. "I like not well these soft footed intrusions. Nor, if I may say it, do I like the dress you wear. Times are come when I no longer welcome coat of that color in my house."

A smoldering red rose to Jarrat's cheek, but he spoke evenly. "I should be sorry, colonel, for an unscrupulous intrusion into a conversation. Rashleigh let me in."

"Curse Rashleigh!" said the colonel unmistakably.

"I rode to inquire for Miss Tillotson," the visitor continued, "but since I am unwelcome, why, I will betake myself home again."

"One moment, colonel," interposed Henry. "Captain, we spoke of a gentleman as you entered. May I ask what basis you have for your information?"

Jarrat took out his pocketbook, drew forth a yellow paper and handed it to Henry. "The Marquis de la Trouerie died en route to those colonies and was buried at sea. There is the leaf from the logbook of the Two Sisters recounting the unhappy incident. The news of his death was suppressed in British interests."

"And the secretary?" Henry's voice was calm.

"The incident is now closed, gentlemen, and I violate no confidence. He was bought by the earl—for services."

"My God!" ejaculated Colonel Tillotson. "Are we never to know truth in this world? He was not an impostor and a charlatan. No. He was a British spy!"

"Why, then?" interrogated Henry. "Did Dunmore expose him?"

"I exposed him."

"You!" the colonel cried.

"I had crossed on the same ship and recognized him at Williamsburg. Discovering the true state of affairs, can you wonder. Colonel Tillotson, at my concern for the intimacy which I saw growing between your niece and this person? I think," he said, masking a glowworm gleam in his eyes, "that my feeling for Mistress Tillotson is not misunderstood by you. I knew Lord Dun-

"London, Jan. 10, 1775.
Sir—Dr. Cralk, who needs no introduction to you, on his return to Virginia will see that this reaches your hand. It will inform you that M. de Penet is arrived from Philadelphia. He astonished me much when he told me that it was too dangerous to remain in the United States, so deposition of the court of France with regard to us. The English court here has little of this doubt; indeed there has been actual trepidation. The good news I send by this letter will show you that there was abundant ground for such fears. Not only have King Louis and M. Turgot, his minister, been condemned together by what means they might assist a unhappy and interesting people, but I have just learned that a nobleman of great family connection and great wealth is lately sailed for your colony, an officer in the flower of his age, who has already proved his talents in Corsica. I am informed that our French Consul, Beaumarchais, who is now here at the time of the trial of Lord Mayor Wilkes in Prince's Court, that this gentleman's judgment is much valued at Marseilles, and in case the state of the cause in Virginia (which the king deems most important of the southern colonies) seems to warrant he will doubtless be commanded to make certain representations touching aid and assistance to be sent from France in the event of united hostilities. I am satisfied that any civilities and respect that may be shown M. the Marquis de la Trouerie will be serviceable to our affairs. His mission is, of course, secret. I shall inform no one else of this, excepting in communication to your wife or discreet. I have the honor to be, sir, your most obedient servant."

"B. FRANKLIN.
Va."

Henry read slowly, without a pause, while the other's eyes did not leave his face. When he had finished he looked up with an expression of mingled satisfaction and puzzlement.

"Marquis de la Trouerie!" Colonel Tillotson exclaimed. "Armand's master, then, was the messenger of France! And he is doubtless in Virginia now. But how dares the secretary pose as his master?"

"Because the marquis is dead!"

more's plan, and I could not openly tell you the truth. Is it a wonder I forgot that I was a king's man? I did the one thing left to me. I set afloat such suspicion that the governor, to save his own reputation with Williamsburg, was compelled to sacrifice his minion, to himself expose the imposture and to cry himself also deceived. I tell you thus much in confidence. Believe me, sir, I steered the best I knew between the hurt of a lady whom I honor and the governor's displeasure. It was the Scylla of duty and the Charybdis of love. Colonel, I love your niece, and I would not see her suffer humiliation."

Colonel Tillotson rose and paced up and down the floor, plucking at the sidecurls of his wig.

"And if what you tell us is true," he said, meditating, "I have done you wrong. I am not overkind to your colors, but I have a respect for honest loyalty. God knows 'tis scarce enough. Mayhap I have been unjust. Will you be seated?"

Jarrat sat down, his watchful eyes turning about the room, something strangely like expectancy in them.

The colonel rang for his major domo, "Rashleigh," said he soberly, "ask your Mis' Anne to come to the library. And admit no one—no one. Do you hear?"

"Yes, massa; yes, suh! Nuttin' but er grabeyard ha'nt gwineter git by dat do?"

"Poor child!" Henry's tone was pitiful. "You mean to tell her? At least wait till your wife is returned."

"The sooner she hears some things the better for her. She has her share of pride; never fear."

"The day I was last here, sir," observed Jarrat, "she boasted she would wed him an he were a laborer in your fields."

"Aye, maybe, but not if he were a conspirator against her country. My niece is a daughter of Virginia, sir." And the master of Gladden Hall noisily took snuff to cover his feelings. Henry's face was like a sphinx.

While they waited came a clatter of hoofs outside. A moment later the hall door was flung open, and Rashleigh was heard in excited jabbering. The colonel repeated an objuration.

The next instant he jumped to his feet, and Jarrat started as if at an apportion. Armand stood on the threshold, mud splashed and pale.

DISAGREEABLY SURPRISED

Hungry Democrats Unable to Fill Pockets at Hearst's Expense.

Indianapolis, May 12.—The impression was so strong that Hearst had sent a barrel of money to Indiana that his headquarters were overrun by men who were for lining their pockets at his expense. The way they were turned down seems to warrant the statement that there has been a lot of exaggeration as to the methods Hearst's representatives have employed. Chas. F. S. Neal, who has shared the management with J. Oscar Henderson, declared that Hearst had not paid the expense of any delegates to the convention and that he had not bought a man. Some of the men who have conducted the work of organization in the districts he said had been paid as a matter of course. Hearst had well-appointed headquarters for his followers here, but those who came expecting lavish entertainment must have been disagreeably surprised, for there was no attempt to make an elaborate display. The impression has been created that Hearst has spent over a hundred thousand dollars in Indiana in the last three months. While the exact amount will probably never be made public, his representatives say that it would seem surprisingly small.

The satisfaction felt at the re-establishment of communication with Port Arthur is increased by the knowledge that a trainload of ammunition has been safely delivered to the fortress. This was done in the presence of the enemy's army which landed at Pitsewo and which is apparently on the eve of being reinforced by another division on board thirty transports now lying off Port Adams.

New Chwang Is on the Eve of Being Effectually Cut Off From the Russian Lines.

Possiet, Siberia, May 12.—A Japanese torpedo boat made its appearance in the roadstead two days ago and suspicious lights have been seen. Everything is quiet here, but all is in readiness to meet any landing of the enemy, whose probable purpose is the cutting of Vladivostok.

Shanghai, May 12.—It is reported from Pekin that the Japanese on Monday occupied Kaiping, sixteen miles below Tashihchao, and that they expected to occupy New Chwang on Friday.

While they waited came a clatter of hoofs outside. A moment later the hall door was flung open, and Rashleigh was heard in excited jabbering. The colonel repeated an objuration.

The next instant he jumped to his feet, and Jarrat started as if at an apportion. Armand stood on the threshold, mud splashed and pale.

work which the association has been able to accomplish, and what it hoped to perform at the present meeting.

The work of greatest importance before the present convention is the selection of a grand chief engineer to fill the place made vacant by the death of P. M. Arthur last July. The present chief, W. S. Stone, who was chosen to fill out Mr. Arthur's unexpired term, will be a candidate to succeed himself.

Other candidates are J. C. Currie, second grand assistant engineer, and T. S. Ingram, first grand engineer.

In the auxiliary Mrs. W. A. Murdoch, founder of the order and its president during the entire eighteen years of its existence, will succeed herself.

In addition to this several others were fatally injured in the distressing disaster.

Five men were killed.

Electric current turned on prematurely explodes six kegs of powder.

Carbondale, Ill., May 12.—In an explosion at the shaft of the Big Muddy Coal and Iron company in Kerrin, five men were killed outright, five seriously injured and twenty others slightly injured. The dead are: John Miller, Dick Reins, Fritz Seiburg, Evan Williams, Thomas Green. Fatally injured: John swofferd, Frank Lazonia, Angelo Scaroni.

The disaster was one of the most serious in the history of the coal industry in this section for many years.

Six kegs of powder had been placed in the mine during the time intervening between the night and day shifts, for distribution to the men in the morning. John Miller, a driver, had charge of the distribution of the explosives.

Ten minutes after Miller was supposed to have accomplished his task, the electric current which runs the machinery was turned on and the explosion followed. It is supposed that through some mistake the current was switched on before Miller had distributed the powder.

Preparations were hurriedly made by the men on top to learn the fate of their forty or more companions below. On reaching the passageway they were met by a frightful sight.

The body of Miller, the driver, was literally torn to pieces. Evan Williams was found only a short distance from Miller, and four of those whose injuries may prove fatal were found in the same vicinity. The three others killed were farther from the pit and not so badly disfigured. The injured men were found in all parts of the mine. The dead and injured were taken to the top as rapidly as possible, the dead to an improvised morgue and the injured to their homes or boarding-houses. The coroner's inquest is being held in Kerrin today.

A STORMY SESSION

Sheriff Called on Supreme Council Bankers of the World.

Omaha, Neb., May 12.—The annual meeting of the supreme council of the Bankers' Union of the World developed into a stormy session, during which the police were called in to restore order and the sheriff served an injunction on Dr. E. C. Spinney, restraining him from transacting any business. After the reading of the report of President Spinney, Supreme Banker Swartz secured the floor, taking occasion to denounce Spinney and his method of conducting the business of the order. Dr. Spinney, who presided, called upon the police to eject Swartz, but the latter sat down and avoided trouble. At this juncture, and just as Chairman Spinney called for nominations for president, Sheriff Power appeared and served an injunction on Spinney and a number of his associates, who were restrained from taking further action in the election of officers and from the voting of proxies. Dr. Spinney at once appointed Ezra Howard chairman and himself removed to a seat with the delegates. Attorneys have been retained by the Swartz faction, who declare they will fight the matter out in the courts.

There has been considerable opposition to Spinney by many who allege that his management was responsible for the recent petition of the state auditor to the supreme court for a receiver, at which time the sheriff was placed in charge of the order's affairs. This opposition was headed by Banker Swartz, who secured the injunction on the ground that Spinney was not properly conducting affairs, and that he had arranged for a number of Omaha men to vote proxies of several South Carolian lodges.

The Bankers' Union is a fraternal insurance order, doing business in about thirty states.

Further German Losses.

Berlin, May 12.—Colonel Leutwein, governor of German Southwest Africa, in a dispatch dated May 10, says that the Hereros are retreating from their lines at Otljibure and Owinkokorero to the northward and are moving with strong forces in the direction of Waterberg. Colonel Leutwein says that a skirmish took place May 9 at Outjo and that the Hereros withdraw toward Waterberg. The German losses were one dead, one wounded and two missing.

No Trouble in Hayti.

Washington, May 12.—Minister Legier of Hayti has communicated the following statement: "According to a telegram just received from the president of the republic, there is no trouble in Hayti; there is not even any fear of an uprising; the country is perfectly quiet."

Suicide or Accident.

Bristol, Tenn., May 12.—The coroner's verdict in the Wentz inquest is "Suicide or accidental killing."

An Ohioan's Desperate Deed.

Steubenville, Ohio, May 12.—Sam Davis shot Mrs. Nellie Chappel three times and then blew out his own brains. They have been living as man and wife. His brother was under indictment for the murder of Calvin Owens.

Ignorance

Blows out the gas and furnishes the newspapers with a jest and an obituary notice, " Didn't know it was loaded" may be an honest plea, but it never brought a victim back to life. Those who let a cough run on, in ignorance of the danger, find no escape from the consequences when the cough develops into lung trouble.

The best time to kill a snake is in the egg. The best time to cure a cough is when it starts. Ordinarily, a few doses of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure a cough at the beginning. But even when the cough is deepest, the lungs bleed and the body is wasted by emaciation. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred effect a perfect and permanent cure.

"My husband had been coughing for years and people frankly told me that he would go into consumption," writes Mrs. John Shireman of No. 607 Chestnut street, "The terrible coughing spells we not only grew much alarmed but looked for the bursting of a blood-vessel or a hemorrhage at most any time. After three days of agony he went to see the doctor. The doctor did him no good. I stated the case to a druggist, who handed me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. TOM TAGGART has been called the democratic boss in Indiana for several years and he is showing the Hearstites that he is the boss yet and if they don't like it they can go right off home.

SEYMORE people will be pleased to learn that the next state meeting of the Modern Woodmen will be held in this city. They will be given a hearty welcome and their stay made as pleasant as possible.

WHAT a lovely family gathering the democrats are having at Indianapolis today and what nice things the Parker crowd is saying about the Hearst people and how loyally the Hearst people are returning the compliment. Just read the proceedings.

THE supreme court has decided the legislative apportionment law of 1903 unconstitutional. The court also decides by implication that the election of representatives and senators can be elected under the law of 1897. This leaves Jackson and Washington counties together as a senatorial district.

AN INDIANAPOLIS Democrat has written to Mr. Bryan asking if he would bolt the nomination of Judge Parker. Mr. Bryan of course is able to answer for himself, but he might very pertinently reply that the New Yorker is the candidate of Grover Cleveland, and that Mr. Bryan would at least be as loyal to the nominee at St. Louis as Mr. Cleveland was to the nominee at Chicago in 1896.

OF course the reorganizers pretend that they would do something to the trusts if placed in power. This pretense has just one excuse for existence and no other. They will do something to every kind of business when they were in power. They will hurt the trusts just as they hurt the workingman and everybody else; just as they took away the jobs of three million workingmen in 1893 to 1897 and put the rest of the workingmen upon half rations or upon charity. Of course this would hurt the trusts, just as it is ruinous to everybody else.

A PROMISING INDUSTRY.

New Factory Looking Forward to a Good Business.

The Parlor Reclining Chair Company which recently located in this city, having purchased the plant of the Seymour Furniture Company, promises to be one of our most valuable industries. Already this factory is a busy place and we predict that in a short time the plant will be running at full capacity.

The management is giving most of their time now to the work of getting out samples in preparation for the season's business and at this they have several men employed. The product of this factory will be high grade goods and foods that will sell.

A committee of the Seymour stockholders went through the plant Tuesday very carefully and found everything just as represented. They were well pleased with what they saw and with the outlook for the future.

Messrs. Brown and Wylie who have direct charge of the plant, understand the furniture business thoroughly and in our judgement Seymour was fortunate to get them here.

At a meeting of the directors Tuesday night the name of the corporation was changed from the Parlor Reclining Company to The American Furniture Company.

Two Fires Near Freetown.

The residence of George E. Wagner, about three miles north of Freetown, together with all of its contents, was destroyed by fire about five o'clock Tuesday evening. The cause of the fire had not been learned when we went to press.

One of Marshal White's houses, about a mile north of Freetown, was burned to the ground about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. It was a large building of about five rooms. They had been cleaning house and a feather bed and carpet were among the few articles saved. His new house nearby and barn also caught on fire but were saved by hard work.

The two houses that burned were only about a mile apart, and it is said there was no insurance on either of them.—Brownstown Banner.

RAILROAD RUMBLINGS.

Engineer J. B. Murphy went to Washington this morning to take his regular run.

Fireman Burns Railing was here from Washington this morning.

Luther Hatfield, a brakeman on the Southern Indiana had his thigh broken about five months ago. One day this week, while trying to turn over in bed at a hospital in Terre Haute, where he was slowly recovering from the injury, he broke the thigh again at the old fracture.

DIED.

BURKLEY.—Miss Mary Burkley died Wednesday evening at Indianapolis where she had been several years. She was born at Jeffersonville Sept. 12, 1866. Her age at the time of her death was 37 years and 8 months. Her home was in this city several years. She was a sister of W. H. Burkley and Mrs. John Humes, of this city, and Mrs. Louise Lunte, of Missouri. Miss Burkley had been a member of the German Methodist church a long time.

The remains will arrive here this Thursday, evening at 5:30 p.m. in charge of W. H. Burkley who was called to Indianapolis by telegram Wednesday afternoon. Funeral from the residence of Mr. Burkley on South Chestnut street Friday forenoon at 10 o'clock conducted by Rev. C. E. Severinghaus, Burial at Riverview.

REIGER.—John Reiger, of Four Corners, died at 12:05, noon, Thursday, May 12, of old age. He would have been 83 years old next week. Mr. Reiger was born in Germany. After coming to this country he was a tailor at Cincinnati until about thirty years ago. His wife died about twenty or twenty-five years ago. He has three children, Joseph, who lives in Illinois, Frank, with whom he lived, and Mrs. Anna Abel, who has kept house for her father and brother since the death of her husband, who was killed at Jonesville. His son, Joseph, came from Illinois Wednesday evening to see his father.

Applewhite Defeated.

James F. Applewhite, of Brownsburg, was defeated for delegate to the democratic national convention in the Fourth district caucus at Indianapolis Wednesday night. The Parker forces had decided against him in advance.

J. F. Cox, of Columbus, and Jos. M. Cravens, of Madison, were slated and were elected by a vote of about two to one.

S. A. Barnes, of this city, was made a member of the credentials committee.

Circuit Court will convene again tomorrow after an adjournment of two days on account of the democratic state convention.

Miss Barbara Laugel entertained a company of lady friends last evening in honor of Miss Nettie Cox. The evening was one of much enjoyment to the entire company.

The early train from the north this morning was about three hours late. The rural carriers waited for the mail on this train which made them an hour late in starting out on their routes.

unconstitutional. The opinion of the court does not even refer to the act of 1897, under which the Democrats have insisted the election next fall shall be held, but the Ripley county case is the one decided, and in it there was a petition for a writ of mandate to compel the election of members of the general assembly to be held under the apportionment of 1897. By affirming the decision of the lower court in this case, the supreme court directs that the election of members of the general assembly next fall be made under the act of 1897, and this removes the danger of having no constitutional act under which to conduct the election.

Illinois Republicans.

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—The Republican state convention, which convened at noon today, will not be permanently organized before tomorrow morning. There is a fight on today over the seating in the temporary organization of the delegates recommended by the state central committee. State Senator Berry has been selected to make the fight on behalf of Deneen, Sherman and Hamlin. The Yates partisans rely on Deneen to throw his support to Yates if there appears any probability of Lowden's nomination. They say that Hamlin will pursue a similar course. None of these things, of course, are admitted by the Deneen, Hamlin, Sherman men. It has been decided that the convention will endorse Senator Fairbanks of Indiana for vice president.

Destruction at Port Arthur.

A message came from the far east that the Russians had received information that the land explosions heard were caused by the blowing up of the piers at Port Arthur to prevent the enemy landing. It has been decided that it is impossible to hold Port Arthur and everything there is to be destroyed, including the war vessels.

Plea for Memorial Day.

Department Commander George W. Grubbs, of the Indiana Grand Army of the Republic, considers the conversion of Memorial day into merrymaking holiday a national shame. He sees in the apathy which permits it a sign of national weakness and a dulling of the national conscience. He said,

"The demand, the watchword of every Grand Army man, of every soldier, of every patriotic citizen should be to make May 30 a Memorial day, not a holiday. Let it be a day for remembrance of the self-sacrifice, the devotion, the splendid patriotism of our soldiers, living and dead; a day for reconsecration to country, liberty and the highest ideals of citizenship; a day so patriotically and universally observed and in such spirit that it shall help and strengthen all for the great work of today and tomorrow, and not a day for mere amusement, for personal pleasure, for races and games, for gain and money-making, for excursions, frivolity and dissipation."

Cured His Mother of Rheumatism.

"My mother has been a sufferer for many years with rheumatism," says W. H. Howard, of Husband Pa. "At times she was unable to move a all, while at all times walking is painful. I presented her with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications she decided it was the most wonderful pain reliever she had ever tried. In fact, she is never without it now and is at all times able to walk. An occasional application of Pain Balm keeps away the pain that she was formerly troubled with." For sale by C. W. Milhouse.

Miraculous Escape.

Fireman Steve Rogers had a narrow escape from death Thursday morning. He was firing on No. 12, and when on the Mill creek grade this side of Mitchell the big locomotive gave a lurch and threw him backward out of the gang-way. His foot caught on a rod which held him fast while his head was near the end of the ties and the train running about fifty miles an hour. Engineer O'Brien at once discovered what had happened and threw on the brakes and went to his rescue. But Rogers had managed to raise himself up sufficiently to catch hold of the running board and then by the assistance of the engineer was soon out of danger. He had a very narrow escape.

Past History Recalled.

The nomination of Hon. O. H. Montgomery for supreme judge has recalled some past history as related to Jackson county. John H. Benton, an old resident of Jackson county, now living at Washington, D. C., writes the Brownstown Banner that Cyrus L. Dunham was secretary of state by appointment to fill out an unexpired term of a few months. He also recalls that Gordon Tanner, a native of Jackson county, but who moved to Indianapolis in 1852, was appointed state librarian by the legislature in 1853 and served two years. In 1856 he was elected reporter of the supreme court and served four years when he was succeeded by the late Benjamin Harrison. These facts sustain a former statement by the REPUBLICAN that O. H. Montgomery if elected next November, will be the first boni fide resident of Jackson county ever elected on a state ticket to any state office.

One Minute Cough Cure
For Coughs, Colds and Croup.

DRIFTING TOWARDS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc.

If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder Trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.

How to Find Out.

You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

Two Sizes, 50 Cents and $1.00.
